CRIMINALS NOT RECOGNIZED.

Foreign Crooks May Find no Protection In America.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—As a result of the discussion by the house judiciary committee of the subject of giving foreigners who may be injured by mob violence in this country access to the United States courts to secure financial redress for their grievances, instead of the usual suits in state courts, Mr. Connolly of Illinois has drawn a substitute for the bill recommended by Chairman Hitt of the committee on foreign affairs and Secretary Olney. An outline of the bill is as follows:

Any citizen of a foreign state who is lawfully in this country, and who is not a fugitive from the justice of such foreign state and is in the peace of the people of the United States and of the state or territory in which the supposed injury occurs, who is injured in person or property by mob violence on account of the state or territory failing to extend to him lawful protection, may bring suit in United States circuit court for the proper district.

If judgment be rendered against the United States and paid, it shall be the duty of the United States treasurer to charge the amount thereof against the state in which the injury occurred, and withhold the amount from any moneys then due or thereafter found due from the United States to such state. The clerk of the court is required to furnish the government of the state with a copy of the petition when filed and the attorney general of the state is authorized to appear with the United States district attorney and rescind the suit.

Mr. Connolly explains that under this law foreigners who had entered the United States by evading the naturalization laws would have no claim upon the government for injuries which might be inflicted upon them, nor would fugitives from justice. It also provides that the interest of the states shall be protected in the trials by their attorneys. The plan is looked upon with favor by Mr. Hitt and its ideas are likely to be adopted by the judiciary committee in any bill which it may recommend.

RIOTING STUDENTS.

They Act More Like Spaniards Than Sensible Americans.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 14.—At the Indiana collegiate oratorical contest there was something of a riot among the students, during which three were injured and a number of chairs were broken.

During the exercises and while the immense crowd was waiting for a decision from the judges, the Butler students lowered from the proscenium arch an immense umbrella covered with their colors. This was flaunted in the faces of the other colleges for a few minutes and the rope supporting it broke, letting it fall to the stage.

One hundred students from Earlham were seated near the stage and made a rush for the umbrella. Butler, 200 strong, were seated back of the center and with a wild yell arose as one man and started across the seats and heads of those in front of them after Earlham. The two colleges came together in the midst of the hall and fighting began, but the police officers rushed in and separated the combatants. Three students were badly hurt by being thrown against the chairs and the umbrella was torn to pieces. Wild tumult reigned in the hall for several minutes, and the excitement continued the rest of the night among the students.

REFUSED TO BE SWORN IN.

Dunlap Is Mystifying the Republicans In Kentucky.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 14.—Wood Dunlap refused to be sworn in, though earnestly solicited by Republicans.

The Democrats are proposing compromise measures. This work was begun by Senator Stevenson offering a motion to reconsider the action of the senate in expelling Senators James and Walton.

President Worthington, however, will not entertain such proceedings, as he holds that James and Walton having been expelled after adjournment are still members of the senate because the action expelling them was illegal and of no force.

It is believed the Democrats will defeat this attempt to reinstate James and Walton until the last day of the session.

It is believed by Republicans that with the help of Dunlap Boyle could be elected senator. His refusal to qualify provokes as well as mystifies them.

Dr. LaMott Located.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Friends of Dr. Henry LaMott, assistant surgeon in the United States navy, who was reported missing from the Brooklyn navy yard since Monday last, called at police headquarters in Brooklyn and stated that the missing man had been heard from by telegrams from Huntington, L. I., where he was detained by sudden illness.

No Conclusion Reached.

BALTIMORE, March 14.—The session of the Baltimore M. E. conference was devoted to a discussion of the Bacon resolutions providing for the election of presiding elders and the admission of lay delegates to the general conference. No conclusion was reached and the matter went over as did also the election of delegates to the general conference.

The Latest Reports.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The latest reports in regard to the impending reorganization plan of the Northern Pacific railroad are that a voting trust of five members, including Messrs. J. P. Morton, August Belmont and a direct representative of the Deutsche bank, will be made.

Strong Probabilities.

CHICAGO, March 14.—There is now a strong probability that the freight roads in the Ohio River association will join the Central Traffic Freight committee as well as the passenger committee.

A DILATORY STEP.

Jackson and Walling Appear In the Circuit Court.

PUBLIC PATIENCE IS STRAINED.

An Appeal to the Supreme Court Is the Only Other Step That May Be Taken to Prolong the Lives of the Criminals. The Interest Is Most Intense In Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, March 14.—Most intense interest is taken by the general public here and in Kentucky in the hearing of the habeas corpus proceeding in the circuit court in the case of Walling and Jackson, indicted in Campbell county, Ky., for the murder of Pearl Bryan, whose dead body was found near Fort Thomas on Feb. 1.

The accused have been under arrest since Feb. 5. They have been twice in the police court and twice in the court of common pleas. Judge Buchwalter remanded them last Saturday to Sheriff Plummer of Campbell county. Their attorneys resorted to habeas corpus, which is being heard in the circuit court.

There is but one more dilatory step left them and that is an appeal to the supreme court. From the fact that the public patience is strained and that an appeal to the supreme court involves further delay, it is believed by some that they will be extradited.

Jackson was shown a Greencastle, Ind., dispatch announcing that Pearl Bryan's father and friends were en route here in force. Its effect was very dispiriting. He said: "I know a great many of these people. Robert Crow is a leading citizen and Attorney Hays is a great lawyer." He is very much broken down and his dread of going to Kentucky is terrible.

WHIPPED BY WHITECAPS.

An Indiana Blackguard Roughly Handled by the Regulators.

MITCHELL, Ind., March 14.—Willis Hollop, an ex-convict, while drunk quarrelled with his wife and beat her unmercifully. He then took the furniture from the house and saturating it with coal oil burned it in the street. He was arrested and placed in jail, where he was kept until a late hour.

Soon after his release he was dragged from his house by whitecaps, taken to a neighboring woods where a rope was placed around his neck and he was strung up to a tree and soundly whipped. After promising to do better he was released and allowed to return home. He is in a critical condition.

By Popular Vote.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—At a full meeting of the committee on privileges and elections, Senator Mitchell, chairman of the committee, was authorized to present his joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. The vote in committee was 5 to 4 in favor of the amendment.

All About a Woman.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Edward F. Donigan, a porter, was shot and almost instantly killed by John Shanley, a saloon keeper, in the latter's house. The shooting grew out of a dispute between the dead man and Shanley's wife, in the course of which Donigan is said to have assailed Mrs. Shanley's character.

Will Exchange Rifles.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Hawley, from the committee on military affairs, made a report authorizing the secretary of war to issue Springfield rifles to the national guards of the various states and territories in exchange for rifles held by them.

Beaten With a Hammer.

LAUREL, Ind., March 14.—Joseph, John and Emanuel Vanatta, while drunk, fought with George and Albert Straight. Albert was fatally stabbed and his head crushed with a hammer. George was badly beaten.

Mineral Land Bill Favored.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The senate committee on public lands reported favorably the bill providing for the examination and classification of mineral lands within railroad grants in the state of California.

Will Be No Change.

ST. PAUL, March 14.—The date of holding the thirtieth national encampment of the Grand Army will not be changed. The original date was the first week in September and that will be adhered to.

SALEM, O., March 14.—The nomination of Frank P. Dunlap to be postmaster here has been confirmed.

Prominent Citizen Dead.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—William B. Webb, 70, formerly a member of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia, died here.

Weather Indications.

For West Virginia and Ohio—Fair; slightly warmer; winds becoming southwesterly.

For Indiana—Fair; light northerly winds.

HIT WITH A STOCKING.

The Murder of Stephen Powell Is No Longer a Mystery.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Alice Hutchinson and Sarah Jones, who were arrested Thursday, gave evidence which clinched the case of the mysterious murder of Stephen Powell at Hempstead against John Wayne and Arthur Mayhew. The result is a confession of the murder by Wayne, in which he attributes the striking of the fatal blow to Mayhew.

Wayne, when put upon the rack by the detectives, broke down and made a statement in which he said that he met Arthur Mayhew in a saloon last Saturday night, and that after they had treated each other several times Mayhew told him he intended to "get some money," and told Wayne to come with him. Following the lead of Mayhew, Wayne said they walked to Franklin and Fulton streets.

After waiting awhile they saw Mr. Powell coming down Fulton street. When Mr. Powell passed Mahew and Wayne walked behind him and Mayhew struck him with a black stocking that had something in it. Mr. Powell fell and Mayhew went through his pockets. The two men then ran and went back to the saloon and played dice until the saloon was closed at midnight.

The confession was sworn to before a notary public. Mayhew refused to talk, further than to make a general denial of having had anything whatever to do with the murder. Apart from the confession of Wayne the district attorney believes that he has sufficient evidence upon which to convict both men.

IN THE HEART OF HAVANA.

Insurgents Sprung Up Like Mushrooms In the Province.

HAVANA, March 14.—The insurgents are again in the central portion of Havana province in force and are moving westward to the neighborhood of the city of Havana.

It is believed they have received large cargoes of arms and ammunition, and thus equipped are about to make an attack on this city.

Excitement here is intense and much apprehension is felt for the safety of General Weyler and other Spanish officials in case the insurgents enter the city.

It is reported that the Cubans have large quantities of dynamite in their possession and it is the knowledge of this fact that makes the Spaniard shudder.

It is known too that if the insurgents enter Havana more than three-fourths of the population of the city will espouse their cause at once.

Many who have heretofore been neutral are now embittered against Spain because of Weyler forcing them to sign a protest against the action of the United States congress.

CHARGED WITH SMUGGLING.

Leon Reichin Attempts to Bring In Some Valuable Watches.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer Saale at Hoboken were Leon Reichin, his wife and baby. The man's bulging pockets attracted the attention of the customs inspectors and he was searched. Eighteen valuable gold watches were found secreted in different parts of his clothing.

His wife in the meantime had gone with her infant to Mayer's hotel. Inspectors followed and searched her baggage without result. The infant's underclothing attracted their attention, however, and upon being undone were found to be lined with gold watches, 12 in all.

Reichin was arrested for smuggling and taken before United States Commissioner Linsley Rowe in Jersey City.

Americans In the Minority.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The senate committee on territories decided with only one negative vote to report favorably Senator Gear's bill for the admission of New Mexico as a state. The negative vote was cast by Senator Sewell of New Jersey, who gave as the reason for his opposition that the American population was in the minority in the territory.

They Want the Time Limit.

BRIDGETON, N. J., March 14.—By a vote of 158 to 13 the New Jersey Methodist Episcopal conference adopted a protest against the removal of the time limit of pastoral relations by the general conference until the church as a whole shall demand it and three-fourths of the annual conference shall concur.

THE BLINDS TO BE PULLED DOWN.

Ladies Must Either Leave Their Large Hats at Home or Else Occupy Back Seats Under Penalty of Fine and Imprisonment—Bill to Enlarge the Statehouse Introduced.

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—Something of a sensation was sprung in the house by Mr. Fosdick who introduced a bill to fine ladies from $2 to $10 for wearing hats or bonnets in theaters so large as to obstruct the view of those behind them.

The rules were suspended and it was read the second and third times and bid fair to go through with a whirl, until Mr. Stewart of Clarke offered an amendment to add six months' imprisonment to the penalty.

A call of the house having been demanded on the bill it was found that 61 members were present, and some of the more conservative fearing the bill might go through too quickly, persuaded Mr. Fosdick to consent to its postponement until next Tuesday.

A bill to add a $1,000,000 addition to the statehouse was introduced in the house by Mr. Dodge. There is some difference of opinion as to how the debt should be paid.

In the Senate.

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—Bills were introduced in the senate as follows:

Mr. Clark, to fix the salaries of judges of the supreme court at $6,000.

Mr. Avery, to protect officers and employes of the state of Ohio from political assessments.

Mr. Jones, to provide for inflicting the death penalty by electrocution.

Mr. Cromley, excluding Pickaway county from the list of counties in which the probate court has concurrent jurisdiction in misdemeanors and proceedings to prevent crime.

Mr. Valentine, regulating the taxation of fees and to provide additional penalties for taxing or collecting illegal fees by public officers, and also in certain cases for their removal from office.

Bills passed:

House bill by Mr. Means, to construct free turnpikes in Knox township, Jefferson county, and issue not to exceed $45,000 bonds therefor.

House bill by Mr. Palmer, to issue bonds in the sum of $20,000 to construct a bridge at Cleveland.

Mr. Hutsenpiller, providing that where proceedings for the condemnation of land for turnpikes result in the awarding of less than was offered by the commissioners the said owner or owners shall pay all the costs of the proceedings.

Mr. Valentine, to provide for a levy of 1 mill on the dollar in certain townships of Crawford county for the improvement of certain roads.

Mr. Valentine, to authorize the improvement of a roadway in Galvin, between Main street and Payne avenue.

House bill, by Mr. Flumerfelt, authorizing county commissioners to light covered bridges where the spans and levees taken together have a length of not less than 500 feet.

House bill, by Mr. Parham, requiring pawnbrokers and chattel morgage money lenders in Cincinnati to pay a license of $250.

Mr. Harper, to authorize the city council of Mount Vernon to transfer funds.

The Coit relief bill was reconsidered and postponed to Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. The senate adjourned until Monday at 4 p. m.

In the House.

COLUMBUS, O., March 14.—Bills were passed in the house as follows:

ABSOLUTELY PURE

IT WAS A HOT ONE.

The Silver Conference at Cleveland Was Not a Mere Sideshow.

CLEVELAND, March 14.—Forty of the 88 counties of Ohio were represented at a conference at the Hollenden of the silver Democrats of the state. The meeting was a long and hot one. At first it was proposed to work in unison for the following delegates at large from Ohio to the Chicago convention: L. E. Holden of Cleveland, Allen W. Thurman of Columbus, Hon. George W. Moore of Stark county and General E. B. Finley of Bucyrus.

There was a division of sentiment and a hot debate, ending in the defeat of this proposition and the determination to stand for principles instead of men. It was decided to use every effort to send enough silver delegates to the state convention to carry that body thus insuring a silver delegation to Chicago.

Before adjournment a formal state organization was formed with General Finley as chairman. The four gentlemen named will undoubtedly be the silver candidates in the state convention for delegates-at-large.

THEY STRUCK GAS.

Peculiar Accident to Parties Sinking an Artesian Well.

CINCINNATI, March 14.—A frightful and peculiar accident took place at the establishment of Rheinstrom Brothers on Pearl and Martin streets. An artesian well was sunk on the premises, and at the depth of 300 feet a vein of natural gas was struck.

This rushed up into the boiler room and caused a frightful explosion, blowing off the roof and wrecking the boilers and other machinery. Engineer Eugene Keefer was seriously hurt and two others slightly injured.

Will He Come Back Penitent?

DELPHOS, O., March 14.—About one year ago Mrs. Charles Hauber eloped with S. B. Yochey, a merchant of this place. She returned about two months ago, took up with her husband and they have been living together until yesterday. Mr. Hauber, evidently wanting to get even, left town, leaving a note stating that he was going away never to return.

A Child Cremated.

ROUNDHEAD, O., March 14.—At 2 a. m. Mr. George Tidd discovered his house on fire and at once began rescuing his family. He got his wife and three children out with great difficulty, but an 11-year-old daughter was burned to death. A 18-year-old daughter was probably fatally burned. Mr. Tidd was also badly burned.

Morris Convicted of Murder.

XENIA, O., March 14.—Charles Morris, convict from the penitentiary, was convicted of the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Douthett. Morris, being in prison as a convict for another crime, and believing he was on his death bed, confessed the crime of which he has just been convicted.

Well Supplied With Wives.

DAYTON, O., March 14.—J. W. Davis, motorman and machinist, was arrested for bigamy. No. 1 caused the arrest. She was formerly Katie Jenkins of Cincinnati and married Davis in Cincinnati in 1885. He married Lulu Rodgers here recently. It is said he has two more wives.

Two Burned to Death.

BANTAM, O., March 14.—The residence of Valentine Mushbacker, a wealthy farmer, was burned, and his daughter, 15, and a veteran soldier named Isler, who lived with the family, were burned to death. Mrs. Mushbacker leaped from an attic window and was seriously injured.

AFTER PADEREWSKI.

Chicago University May Engage the Wonderful Musician.

Ignace Jan Paderewski is to be the guest of honor at a reception to be given March 13 by President Harper of the University of Chicago. President Harper is under suspicion of setting a trap for the man of the Leonine head. It is hinted he has designs on the magnetic digits of his guest for his prospective conservatory of music.

Efforts have been renewed at the university lately to complete the details for a musical department that shall eclipse anything of the kind in this country and rival similar schools in Europe. It is to be on a scale in keeping with all the other enterprises undertaken by the wonderful "Aladdin of Chicago." The plans as discussed thus far contemplate a musical temple, to cost $500,000 or more.

Dr. Harper is said to have his hungry eyes already on several noted leaders in the art musical. And so, whether Paderewski suspects the trap or refuses to play in the presence of the masters of academic music, he may take this as a quiet tip that there is a golden opportunity to win the everlasting loyalty of Chicago.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

CLEVELAND ROW—13-30-7.

Washington Policy Players Have Faith In Duck Hunting Numbers.

The sun was just sinking in the west when one of Washington's sporty colored citizens crossed the Long bridge and entered a policy shop in Jackson City. That he was in hard luck was apparent. But with a dime in his hand he approached the manager of the peculiar gambling place.

"I plays dat on de Cleveland row," he said.

"The Cleveland row! Why, I don't know that row. What's the number?"

"Why, everybody knows 'em. Dey is 13-30-7."

"How do you make that out?"

"Why, dose numbers dey represent de ducks what de president done shot on his last t'ree trips. Now, last night I done have a dream, and I dreamed of de president shooting ducks t'ree times, and den I dream of gold bonds a-comin from everywhere, and ef dat doan' mean play de Cleveland row and change your luck, I doan' know nothin 'bout de policy business."—Washington Post.

Talbert's Platform.

Representative Talbert of South Carolina says this is the platform he runs on in his district, and the consequence is that he never has opposition: "Be good to the poor, friendly to the rich, true to the Democrats, fair to the Republicans and always loan to the Populists." Talbert has had several oratorical scrapping matches recently, but manages to hold his own.—Washington Star.

MERRY FORESTERS

HOLD A DELIGHTFUL BOX SOCIAL AT THEIR HALL.

J. D Clark, High Vice Chief Ranger of Ohio Makes an Interesting Address—Delightful Vocal and Instrumental Music Rendered—A Successful Affair.

One of the most interesting and enjoyable social sessions ever held in this city was that of Court Ququa, No 1502 I. O F., which occurred at its hall in the Cummin block, Friday night

The hall which had been closely seated, was well filled with members of the order and their ladies and some outside guests when D. B. Morrill, vice chief ranger of Court Ququa, arose and announced a vocal selection by the Mendelssohn quartet, consisting of Mrs J. H. Criswell, the Misses Kowalke and Miss Gast The music rendered by the quartet was exceptionally clever and was followed by music by the orchestra consisting of Mrs G. W Baker, organist; T. Hughey, violinist, H Iler, flutist and G. W. Baker, cornetist

High Vice Chief Ranger of Ohio J. D Clark, of Dayton, was then introduced and made a wonderfully clever exposition of the merits of the Foresters.

Mr. Clark said that he had just had a three days' struggle with a better lawyer than himself and that a sick headache had helped the other lawyer that the struggle was over but that the sick headache still aboded with him and had he been announced to speak on anything else than "Forestry" he would have sent his regrets.

"Some two weeks ago" said he "Brother Morrill wrote to me asking me to give you a fifteen minute talk on Forestry and my late trip to Europe in the interests of the order. Well Brother Morrill has overestimated me if he thinks I can condense the description of a 9000 mile trip into fifteen minutes to say nothing of Forestry.

"When coming here today—and I had not been here for years—I was glad to find that Marion was a city of fraternities and was still more surprised to find charter after charter hanging on these lodge room walls I learn that almost all the leading orders are represented here. This is a good sign. It is not to the detriment of an order that many other orders are represented in a city; the opposite is true and they are all mutually helpful These orders are all good and I am glad to know that many Foresters are embraced in them.

"However, whenever I look to the business side of the beneficial orders I am always impressed with the advantages of Forestry over all of them. Why? Because I deem it the best Other orders may say the same of themselves yet I would have you compare Forestry with all other orders on any or all given lines and am willing to abide by the result.

"Forestry is an American order of twenty-one years' growth It was founded at Newark, N. J For five years it remained here, but drifted across the border, which at first caused dissentions to arise. At first it was an assessment order, but as it is now the payments are fixed. At the time of the split it was incorporated in Canada.

"At first I didn't like this, but soon took the practical and sensible view of the matter and asked myself what I went into it for The answer was, 'To protect those I love in life and after me in death' That's why I am a Forester

"I have since learned that Forestry, like any other good thing, was born in America, and, although it had crossed the border of the 'States,' was coming back again to claim its own Why, we have 2000 members in Ohio alone. I learned that the head of the order was firm in his desire to make it strongest here and it took me six weeks to learn that I had misjudged the Canadians I found that they called themselves Americans, knew our national hymn and sung it. I have heard the supreme officer of this order in the supreme lodge meeting in London fight to make the vote unanimous that the funds of the order be invested in America. The vote carried by 153 to 2.

"I love Forestry over other orders because it is the cheapest order to give the protection which it does It is the only order where a man may die tonight and without any assessment having been made his beneficiary will receive a check within ten days or two weeks. That can be done in Forestry because it has a reserve fund and is on a fixed rate basis. Forestry says we will carry you at a certain age at a certain figure per month. For twenty years it has done this and now has a membership of $1000 and a reserve of $1,600,000.

"Other beneficial orders are subject to extra assessments. One to which I belong made six extra assessments last year, yet I consider it a good order In the same time, however, Forestry added $100,000 to its reserve and met every death claim promptly.

"How can we do it? Because we do away with all expenses and are economic in management. Who has ever heard of $1 expense in this court, outside of the regular running expenses? It contains more fraternal spirit than any other insurance order, and you greet a brother Forester as you would a brother Mason, Odd Fellow or Knight of Pythias The result is that where we had in 1886 a membership of [illegible] we have in 1896 a membership of [illegible]

"I shall not go into the question that it is proper to provide for the future of those we love Ladies, if we take you out of the question no fraternal order would last six months and so am glad to see so many of you here tonight It is for you that we labor and on your account I am able to say that [illegible] surance twenty years ago was a theory today it is a practice It is almost safe to say that the man that makes no protection for the future makes little for the present We are not meaning to say that we can do it for as little money, but for what we receive we give more protection than any order in existence.

"In Forestry all your dealings are with your local court It's as simple as going to your grocer buying a bill of goods and getting a receipt. There's not an officer in the order but holds his office by your grace, but what must answer to you for all his acts"

Mr Clark then told of instances of quick payment of claims made by the order and how one man had sent in an application and died by accident before the policy was issued, and yet how the order had paid the policy in full

"I suppose you ladies wonder at that picture of Sitting Bull and his family I will say that we are not a lodge of Indians I never saw but one full blood Indian in my life and he is the head of our order.

"In the sixties the Prince of Wales visiting Canada was struck with the intellectual appearance of a young Indian. He took him back to England with him and educated him at Oxford and afterward at a medical college. Dr O'Ronhyatekha is his name. He returned to Canada, was prominent in the Canadian house of parliment and today, a full-blooded Indian, is the Supreme Chief Ranger of our order—a man of the greatest eloquence, of subtile tact, of perfect intellectual grace, of superb physique—an ideal man—and he's the man who said in London, 'All the intellect in the line of insurance is in the 'States' and there I want our funds invested'

"On our trip to Europe I found courts all over England, Ireland and Scotland and in every great city of Europe, with the possible exception of Paris.

"I want to see this court number 100 members. There should be 100 men in Marion who should rally together for the common purpose of mutual good, to make a common bond for protection All men should come in. There's no place where procrastination costs more All fraternal orders make assessments on the death of members excepting the Foresters In this order payments cease at 70 and ten per cent of the face of the policy is paid annually to the member until he reaches 80

"There are many merits of this order which I could extol had I time. The one thing most important of all is to investigate If you can find any order that can give you more for the same money, that's the lodge you want to join. I hope we may hear within the next three months that Court Ququa has attained a membership of 100"

Mr. Morrill said that he would like to have a regular Methodist testimonial meeting but as the hour was late that must be passed over and so asked for a selection by the quartet which was responded to with such cleverness that the applause was unlimited until the ladies gave a second selection.

Numbers were then distributed to the gentlemen and while the ladies drew their boxes containing the most dainty eatables the gentlemen present were all introduced to Mr Clark.

For the next hour the utmost enjoyment prevailed and full justice was done to the eatables, quite a number gathering around the speaker of the evening and being fascinatingly entertained by his stirring description of his European trip

It was a grand affair and the utmost enjoyment was expressed in every face The purely social side of the evening continued well on to midnight though the bright, particular star of the occasion was compelled to leave before that hour to take his train to return to his home in Dayton

Unparalled Success.

Among the noted professional men of this country who have achieved extraordinary success is Dr France, president of The France Medical Institute Nos 38 and 40 west Gay street Columbus, Ohio In 1886 he established the France Medical Institute for the treatment of all forms of chronic, nervous nasal throat and lung diseases He associated himself with a full corps of eminent physicians and surgeons of the most eminent qualifications and mature experience These specialists employ only such courses of treatment as are exactly adapted to each individual case They have restored hundreds of people to perfect health that had been given up as hopeless, not only by their home physicians, but also in many instances by these considered renowned as specialists By request of many friends and patients Dr France has decided to visit Marion Monday, March 16. THE TEACHERS' PRIMARY UNION

A Marion Union Was Organized With Great Interest, Last Night.

The Marion Primary Teachers' Union has been organized with a splendid corps of officers and will no doubt become an auxiliary to the International The aim of the union is to unify work and workers in our city and county, to elevate ideals and improve methods, to generate the power of true christian living in teachers and children The first meeting will be held at Epworth M E church next Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, when all arrangements will be completed.

Mrs. Porter met the workers last night, a large number being present and gave a most helpful talk along the line of child-study, the work of the Union etc., after which she formed a class of little children out of the workers and taught the lesson, "Teachings About Prayer" This was of great interest and entered into by all with zeal Mrs Proter used simple object and black board work showing in a child-like way the improved methods of primary teaching, in which she claims almost any one can be successful if they have the love of God and little children in their hearts. Mrs Porter closed the meeting feeling that the work in Marion is on a good foundation, and with the prayer that all members of the Union may grow "in wisdom and stature and in form with God and man"

PROF. KNIGHT'S LECTURE.

A Very Agreeable Intellectual Entertainment by The Tuesday Club.

Through the courtesy of The Tuesday Club about seventy five invited guests were afforded an opportunity to hear Prof Knight, of the Ohio State University, in a parlor lecture, at the spacious and elegant home of Mr and Mrs Fred Haberman.

The club has been for some weeks engaged in studying the history of the American Colonies prior to the declaration of independence. The lecture written especially for this occasion treated of the early condition of the colonists and of the evolutionary process which raised the primitive local governments into colonies and finally into a federation represented by the Continental Congress Prof. Knight's paper showed fine scholarship and painstaking research.

After the conclusion of the reading an informal reception was given to the distinguished visitor, and refreshing ices were served It is hoped that The Tuesday Club will feel encouraged to repeat its experiment of parlor lectures.

A WOMAN OF EIGHTY YEARS

Receives a Serious Fall at Her Home This Morning.

A very serious accident befell Mrs. Mayer, mother of Louis Mayer, residing on Cherry street, this morning.

Mrs Mayer was attending to matters about the house and in some way slipped and fell into the cellar. Her leg was fractured and she sustained injuries about one of her knees, while she was more or less injured otherwise

Mrs Mayer is past eighty years of age which makes her injuries the more serious. Dr J. L Hensley was called and dressed her wounds

John Rentschler Dead.

John Rentschler died at home on south State street this morning at 5:30 o'clock He had been ill for some time and about three months ago was obliged to quit work at the Huber shops He was a sufferer from consumption but only a few weeks ago he was obliged to take his bed, from which he never arose

He was in the neighborhood of forty years of age and moved here from Agosta. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his death

OVER THE WYANDOTS

THE MARION WHIST PLAYERS GAIN A VICTORY

But the Vanquished Came Up Smilingly and Captivate Their Conquerers by the Grace With Which They Take Defeat. A Double Victory.

The Upper Sandusky and Marion Whist clubs met at Hotel Marion, Friday night, to contest for honors in duplicate, and the battle resulted in the overwhelming defeat of the visitors

The play was entirely too one sided to be of thrilling interest but the manly braves and handsome squaws of the Wyandot tribe took their fall so gracefully that they demonstrated their ability to give lessons to all comers in the graceful acceptance of defeat if they couldn't play whist.

The play commenced promptly at 8:15 o'clock and the original sets were finished by 10:15. At that hour the player and the guests of the local club partook of the dainties prepared by Landlord Young and served in the dining room, which had been profusely decorated with foliage plants and flowers in bloom.

About 11:15 the duplicate sets were commenced and the play was finished about 1 o'clock this morning resulting in the Marionites scoring a gain of forty-five points, which is a most remarkable showing.

Twenty-four players contested in eight original and eight duplicate games.

At table one, Upper Sandusky was represented by Miss Grace Kenan and C A. Wormley, and Marion by J. W Nelson and D. O. Weeks. This table made the banner showing for Marion, winning the series by twenty points.

At table two Marion suffered its only loss of the evening, H. N Quigley and E. B Landon being defeated by Mrs W. R Hare and Tom McKelly by five points

W. R. Waddel and L. B McNeal, for Marion, and Miss Louise Berry and T E Kenan played at table three, and Marion there made a gain of ten points.

Miss Mayte Hedges and C S Mathews did the honors for Upper Sandusky, and Sidney Young and E J. Lee for Marion at table four, and played the only close series of the evening, the Marion players winning by only one point.

At table five A. F. McNeal and T M Cunningham for Marion made a gain of eight points over Miss Flo Hedges and W R Hare, representing Upper Sandusky.

The veterans of the Marion club, J F. McNeal and W E Scofield represented Marion at table six, and won the second highest gain of the evening, beating out Mrs. C E Mathews and W. C. Hare, for Upper Sandusky, by eleven points

Thus the Marionites gained twenty points at table one, ten points at table two, one at table four, eight at table five, eleven at table six, making a total of fifty. At table two Marion lost five points, leaving a total gain for Marion of forty-five points.

In addition to the players, Mesdames J F. McNeal, W. E Scofield D O Weeks, L B. McNeal, H N. Quigley and W. R Waddel, and Misses Cunningham, Jessie Harshberger, Carrie P. Wallace, Florence Saiter, Alice Hane and Stella Smiley were present

W. Z. DAVIS CLASS

Gave One of Its Agreeable Entertainments Friday Night.

W Z. Davis and his class of the Epworth M E Sunday school occasionally entertain their friends in a most pleasant manner and last night was no exception, when the large number gathered in the Primary room, beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers for the occasion. After the choice refreshments were served and enjoyed by all, a far better feast was announced by Mr. Davis—a literary one, and one that proved of high order.

Pesda Miller, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs J W Miller, gave, in her child-like manner, "Billy's Gone to Glory," which called out Mrs. W. B Porter of Cleveland, secretary of the State Association, on "Bringing Babes to Christ," in which Mrs. Porter is very successful.

J B Virden clearly impressed us that "The Country Sunday School" was of as great importance as our city schools.

J. W. Crawley fairly outdone himself on 'Cassius' Address to Brutus, and Joseph Stubbs no doubt enjoys the "Experiences of a Substitute"

James Williams spoke well on the "Model Secretary."

"The Relation of the Sunday School to the Church" was handled by Rev J L. Hillman in his own earnest and effective style, and [illegible] Lacount read a paper on "Art in the Bible"

The song, "God be with you till we meet again" was sung, led by John Waddell with Mrs Zelda Davis Pombaugh, organist

These social meetings of the class are one of the features of the primary school, promote an interest and help the grand work that is being done by Mr Davis and others in the school

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC

—AND—

Stomach and Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced in this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great renewing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or twenty years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF

All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nervine Tonic.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate invalid. Nine tenths of all the ailments to which the human family are heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the waste our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous debility.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Aug. 20, '86. To the Great South American Medicine Co.: Dear Gents:—I desire to say to you that I have suffered for many years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but nothing done me any appreciable good until I was advised to try your Great South American Nervine Tonic and Liver Cure, and since using several bottles of it I must say that I am surprised at its wonderful powers to cure the stomach and general nervous system. If everyone knew the value of this remedy as I do, you would not be able to supply the demand. J. A. HARDER, Ex-Treas. Montgomery Co.

REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly, with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy; a few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world."

SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887.

My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the best remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.

JOHN T. MISH.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic

Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and only one great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

Mrs. Harriet E. Hall, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to The Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood, am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."

No remedy compares with SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.

THE FIRST ONE.

William F. Conley the Only Populist In the Legislature.

HE IS DOING SOME GOOD WORK.

Colonel Coit Must Wait For His Pay. Equipment Companies to Be Taxed—A Humorous Incident—The Senate Extends a Helping Hand to Wilberforce University—Notes of the Legislature.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—[Special.]—For the first time in the history of the state a Populist has come into the ranks of the legislature, and those people who looked forward to this with some concern have had that feeling entirely removed, for a more urbane, generous, courteous and withal valuable member it would be hard to find in either branch than William F. Conley of Mercer county. Coming as a Populist he was regarded with some curiosity by his fellow members, who expected to see wild bills on improbable subjects introduced and things go wrong generally. Instead they met with a very quiet, dignified man who has done little except to exercise his right to vote and exercise it in the right way, in which some of the others might well follow his example.

Mr. Conley has good ideas of what ought to be done, and he insists upon nothing unless there be an excellent reason for doing so. He was born in Goshen township, Auglaize county, O.,

HON. WILLIAM F. CONLEY.

April 20, 1844, on a farm. Learning, after an apprenticeship of two years, the trade of milling, he followed it some time. Later he became a civil engineer, but losing his savings in a railroad venture returned to farming, and in 1871 settled upon a piece of land in Mercer county, where he has since lived. The same qualities which have made him popular in the legislature made him well liked at home, and that is why his neighbors sent him down to represent their district. If all Populists are as excellent men as he, a goodly number of them would do no harm as members of the lawmaking bodies.

The senate has decided—and it ought to be to their credit—that the colored youth of Wilberforce university shall be entitled to the same privileges as the white students in the other state institutions of learning. The bill to levy a tax for this purpose did not get through without some opposition, but then, what bill does? Yet, when it came to a vote, it went through almost unanimously. The money is to be used in the better equipment of the normal and industrial departments of the university, where young men and women are fitted out as teachers and prepared to fill some place with credit to themselves. Therefore, it is a most excellent and worthy object of public consideration, and should be given every possible encouragement.

A humorous writer could get every chance to display his talent by attendance upon the meetings of the legislature. Not a day goes by without some display upon the part of the members which could be worked into an article filled with laughing situations or into most humorous pictures. These often come unconsciously and are all the more relished. One of these happened Friday when Mr. Hogg, in the senate, suggested that Mr. Garfield have his hair combed in order to get out the ideas of constitutional law which seemed to be sticking there. Mr. Garfield replied that he would have this done and cut too, but he suggested that the same rule be followed by all the members, as the hair was as far as most of them seemed to let ideas regarding this go. It was a thrust which everybody appreciated and caused a general laugh.

Colonel Coit and the lawyers who defended him are liable to see spring get well into summer before they get what is due them. The senate sat down on the bill to appropriate money for this purpose, and they sat hard. The original measure gave $6,500 to Colonel Coit and some $5,000 to lawyers. There were several propositions to amend, but the supporters of the bill wanted everything or nothing, and they got the latter. There can not be anything done now until a new bill is introduced, and in the meantime the men who were to get the money must wait. But however, the spirit exhibited and the precedent established are things which must bring regret to the great body of citizens.

It is a lamentable fact, and the tendency is such as to encourage instead of stamp out riot. The militia of the state should be given every encouragement in the performance of their duties and not given to understand that when this is done they will be denied the support of the legislature. Regrettable and unfortunate as were all the circumstances connected with the riot at Washington C. H., there is no good excuse for the legislature refusing to at least grant something to Colonel Coit and his attorneys, and what has been done should be undone as soon as possible.

Mr. Whettlesey, the senator from Portage, has had a bill passed which will make freight line and equipment companies which run cars in the state pay a tax for doing the same. Heretofore they have been exempted from this and as a result money which ought to have come into the state has been kept in the pockets of the stockholders. The bill imposes a tax of 5 per cent upon the gross earnings of these companies, and if they don't pay up when due, a little extra is added on to remind them of their duty. HARRY M NEE.

TO HELP WORKERS.

A Free Employment Bureau a Probability For New York City.

A free employment bureau is to be established in New York city by the state commissioner of labor statistics if the bill of Assemblyman A. C. Wilson becomes a law.

The bureau is to be maintained for the purpose of receiving all applications for labor on the part of those seeking employment and all applications for help on the part of those desiring to employ labor. The commissioner is to appoint a superintendent and such clerical assistance for the bureau as may appear necessary for its proper conduct.

No compensation or fee whatsoever shall, directly or indirectly, be charged or received from any person or persons applying for labor or employment through the office. The commissioner, any superintendent or clerk or any other person employed in any such office charging or receiving any compensation or fee from any applicant for labor whomsoever, as provided for in the act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined any sum not exceeding $100 or imprisoned not exceeding 30 days.—New York Recorder.

WHO OWNS RHODE ISLAND?

Surviving Members of the Narragansett Indians Claim 135,000 Acres.

Who owns the southern portion of the state of Rhode Island? That is the important question that has just arisen to trouble the political leaders of the state. The other afternoon at a powwow of the surviving members of the Narragansett Indians they announced that they were prepared to assert their right of ownership to $4,000,000 worth of land in that state. On April 7 the general assembly will be given an opportunity to show why the property should not be returned to the Indians.

The tract of land in question comprises the greater portion of the southern part of the state. It includes the towns of West Greenwich, Exeter, Richmond, Hopkinton and portions of the towns of North and South Kingston. It consists of nearly 135,000 acres of land.

This council, or powwow, was held at the old meeting house on the Indian reservation, in the town of Charlestown. Notices had been sent to the members of the tribe, asking them to make special efforts to be present, and a large number responded.—New York Journal.

FARO BOX PATENT.

Uncle Sam Innocently Granted One to Robert Bayley In 1812.

During a discussion over a sociable game of cards a few evenings since, in which several prominent congressional people took part, the statement was made that the faro box, an instrument in use in every gambling establishment of the land, had been consecrated by letters patent of the United States. To settle the controversy two of the parties spent the day hunting up the records.

They found that Robert Bayley was given a patent May 15, 1812, for a new and useful improvement called the faro dealer or the chatte lusodia. The letters patent were under the hand of James Madison, president, by James Monroe, secretary of state, and were executed by William Pinckney, as attorney general. In the schedule which was attached to the patent the ordinary faro deal box is described perfectly.—Washington Cor. Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

NO MORE DEATH DANCES.

Osage Indians Ordered to Cease the Custom by Their Chief.

Chief Debolt, the head medicine man of the Osage tribe of Indians, and the active politician, has issued an imperative order discontinuing death dances in the nation.

When an Osage dies, according to a long established custom all his relatives go absolutely naked until the death dance, which occurs 30 days after the fatality. This custom of going naked has played havoc with them, making them subject to colds that invariably ended in consumption.

Seven per cent of the adults of the tribe are now in the last stages of consumption, and it is this alarming fact that called forth the edict. The importance of the measure is so great that death dances will be treason against the nation.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A New Party.

The conference of political reformers who are to meet in Pittsburg March 10, 11 and 12, has attracted the attention of the country to such an extent that the organization of a new party is now a certainty, and a nominating convention will be held in May, before the convening of the Prohibition party convention, and in advance of the convention of other existing parties.

The answers to inquiries sent out nearly all favor a convention May 20, 21 and 22.—Boston Journal.

Boys Cannot Smoke In Lincoln, Neb.

The Lincoln (Neb.) city council has passed William Lawler's cigarette ordinance. This ordinance prohibits the use of cigarettes, cigars or tobacco by persons under 18 years of age in the city limits. The police under this law are authorized to arrest without a warrant any person who comes under the ban of this law. The fine to be imposed is not more than $25 for each offense. Councilman Lawler is also the author of the curfew ordinance which was passed some weeks ago.

POPULISTS' STRENGTH.

Leaders Expect Fifty or Sixty Votes In the Next House.

MUCH ELATED AT THE OUTLOOK.

Where They Look For Great Gains—They Are After the Electoral College Also. Practical Politicians Worrying Over Money Matters—Poor Candidates.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—[Special.]—One of the remarkable features of politics in this country at the present time is the vitality shown by the Populist party. In these dispatches an effort is made to treat all parties fairly and truthfully, and in pursuance of this policy it becomes necessary to say that the Populist leaders are in high glee over the outlook for their organization. They tell me that they will have 50 or 60 votes in the next house of representatives, to be elected in November. Some of them even estimate their strength much higher than this, but 50 is a fair figure to represent the intelligent expectation of the populist leaders themselves. They base this opinion upon the prediction that neither of the older parties will take a satisfactory silver platform, that they will either declare against silver or juggle with the question to the disgust of the advocates of free and unlimited coinage. According to the Populist spokesmen, their party is the only one that earnest silver men will be able to pin their faith to in the coming campaign, and for this reason alone they expect to carry scores of congressional districts now represented by Republicans or Democrats.

A Clean Sweep Expected In Texas.

The Populists expect their greatest gains, of course, in the south and west. In Texas they think they are sure of almost a clean sweep. The Lone Star state is wild for free silver, and as to the accuracy of this statement, it is not necessary to depend alone upon the testimony of the Populists. That is the report brought to the national capital by Democrats and Republicans as well. A mighty wave of silver sentiment has swept over Texas, which is one of the greatest and most prosperous states in the Union. The Democrats say they will be lucky if they save a pair of congressmen out of the wreck. Some of them think Mr. Bailey is the only man who will be able to secure a re-election. This state of affairs does not exist because the Democrats of Texas are against silver, because they are not. They are for free coinage all the time. But the silver sentiment in that state has become convinced the only way to bring about free coinage is to go clear over to the Populist party, which declares for free silver in its platforms without any equivocation.

There are many other states in which the Populists expect to make headway. Perhaps there is not a state of the south in which they are not active and well organized and approaching the coming campaign with more enthusiasm than ever before. In the far west, too, they count upon gains. Altogether they deem their estimate of 50 votes in the next congress conservative.

A Balance of Power.

If these expectations be even approximately realized, we may have that decidedly interesting state of affairs in Washington—a house of representatives in which the third party holds the balance of power. This is the dream of the Populist leaders, and they now believe they are nearer the goal than they ever were before. If they succeed in this purpose, they will make things interesting for the new administration, no matter what its politics may be. We should then have a congress in which both houses were dominated by the avowed friends of silver, for it is notorious that the senate is now and will for some years continue to be a silver body. The Republicans, by coming political changes, may secure a clear majority in the senate, but they will always be dependent upon the silver men from the far west and those senators have of late shown a most stubborn intention to stand by the interests of their section, regardless of the desires of the remainder of the party. If, then, the Populists were to get a balance of power in the house, a fine state of affairs we should have in our national legislature.

The Populists do not confine their ambition to the house of representatives. They are also after the electoral college. They believe they are going to do great things in the coming presidential election. Four years ago they cast 1,000,000 votes for Weaver and elected 22 presidential electors. This year they claim they will have 2,000,000 of votes and perhaps 75 electoral votes. In fact, they talk of controlling the balance of power in the electoral college, just as they talk of controlling the balance of power in the house of representatives. There are Populists leaders in Washington who believe their party will poll a greater number of votes at the coming election than the Democrats, but this claim is of course scouted by Democrats as absurd. Time will tell.

The Growing Senate.

Though the United States senate has now become such a large body that it has in many respects changed its character and its tone, it is suggested by a western senator that the body is to go on growing till it reaches the century mark—that is to say, the senate of the near future will be composed of an even 100 men, representing the 45 states now in the Union and the five more which it is generally believed will be admitted during the coming decade—New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Alaska. That would make the American Union consist of 50 states, with an even 100 representatives in the senate chamber—quite a change from the senate at the outbreak of the rebellion, when there were only 33 states.

One finds the practical politicians of both the leading parties worrying already about the money with which to carry on their campaigns. To the politician a campaign without a large campaign fund is a failure. Life is not worth living or the game of politics fit to be played unless the coffers are full. Neither side expects to have much money in the coming contest. The Republicans claim they will not need it, and the Democrats say they can't raise it. Much of course depends upon the nominations. If Mr. Whitney should be the Democratic nominee as many people think he will be, the Democrats would have enough money to worry their opponents. Colonel Morrison's friends are not of the moneyed sort, and Mr. Carlisle's ability to raise money is not much greater than that of Morrison. It is said by politicians generally that the trouble of both great parties is that neither party is likely to have a candidate fit to lead it, and that one party is worse off in this respect than it had four years ago, being ...[illegible] ... and unbutted. The Holidays of 1896.

The year 1896 is a leap year. When leap year is come the new Year's day ... you until 1900. The addition of an extra day to February this year throws most of the holidays to the end of the week. In 1896, for instance, Independence day comes on Thursday. In 1895 it came on Saturday. Washington's birthday and Decoration day also come on Saturday, and Christmas comes on Friday. Thanksgiving day, being always appointed for the last Thursday of November, and Labor day, coming on the first Monday of September, are not subject to the mutations which affect other holidays. Sometimes when the last spark of life seems almost extinguished it is fanned into flame again by prompt, vigorous action. It is a mistake however, to put off action too long; another mistake is to despair too easily. Both these mistakes are made in dealing with disease, particularly with consumption. It is neglected at first until someone names it. Then the name strikes terror to the mind, the nature of the disease is misunderstood. It is a blood disease, settled in the lungs. If it settled somewhere else the doctors would give it a different name—scrofula, kidney disease or "liver complaint." But the name only tells where it settles. It is really all one disease—bad blood, and there is only one cure—Good blood.

An abundance of good, rich, red blood put into the circulation, cures every one of these complaints, consumption as well as the rest—if it hasn't gone too far. It is on this true physiological principle—fully proven by experience—that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption and all other blood diseases. It tones up the blood making organs to produce a fresh supply of healthy, red blood; this carries new nourishment and life to the wasted lung tissue, or any other tissue that is affected. It drives out the poisonous disease germs which clog the skin, liver or kidneys. It is simply a question of purifying and building up, where there is nothing left to build on the "Golden Medical Discovery" will infallibly build up and cure. It cures cases which doctors declare "incurable." That word has lost its meaning since Doctor Pierce's wonderful "Discovery."

The plain and hopeful truth about disease is shown in the light of the best science of the century in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 pages, illustrated. SPRING FASHIONS.

Prevailing Color Combinations—Simple Dresses For Little Ones.

Black and purple is a picturesque and at present a fashionable combination. The purple must be well selected, however, dull purples not being admissible with black. Bright violet and rich plum tones are the most satisfactory. Hats of black and purple are a fancy of the moment.

Children are now dressed very much as the individual fancy of the mother dictates. For those who like to see little girls dressed like women there are numerous models in which the godet skirt, stock collar and other mature peculiarities are repeated in miniature, but the prettiest and most artistic gowns are the simple and characteristically childish ones, in which haircloth and canvas have no place. The Greenaway and blouse costumes are more becoming to children than any other kind and are the easiest to make. An appropriate wardrobe for a little girl will not be elaborate enough to cost her mother a great deal of time and trouble.

Velvet or silk Scotch plaids are effectively combined with plain goods of gray, beige, burned bread and other neutral tints. The sleeves and part of the corsage are of the plaid, the plain material forming the rest of the costume. Plaid velvet is combined with plain taffetas and faille as well as with woolens.

A fashionable trimming for woolen gowns consists of embroidery or braiding on a ground of white cloth. This forms revers, vest, straps, collar and cuffs. Costumes of plain cloth, ornamented with stitching only, are also worn.

An illustration is given of a striking costume for the early spring. It is of blue cloth and Scotch plaid velvet in tones of blue, white and straw. The godet skirt, of cloth, opens over a narrow tablier of plaid velvet, framed by gold galloon, which is carried around the lower edge of the cloth portion of the skirt. The bodice, of plaid velvet, is slightly gathered at the waist in front and has a short rippled basque of the same material. The figure is of plain blue velvet and is cut in two points in front. It has a wide collar and is edged all around with gold galloon. The gigot sleeves, of blue cloth, are ornamented with lengthwise bands of galloon. The blue velvet belt is fastened by a paste buckle. With this gown is worn a hat of ruby straw, trimmed with an immense bow of ruby velvet, which is held by paste rings. Black feathers are placed at the left side. JUDIC CHOLLET.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Probate Judge.

To the Republicans of Marion County, Ohio: I hereby respectfully solicit your support as the Republican candidate for the office of Probate Judge, at your coming county convention. Respectfully,
CHARLES F. GARBERSON.

FIRE ALARM AND INSURANCE.

While it is a pleasure to note the completion of a fine electric fire alarm system, such as is befitting a city of Marion's attainments, we must contemplate, sorrowfully and expensively, no proportionate diminution of insurance rates. It it a fact that fire insurance rates are inconsiderately high in Marion, and the striking part of it is that they have grown steadily in spite of our increased city expenditures to lessen fire risks. It is a truth that cannot be challenged that despite our improved fire department, with added expense for fire plugs and water service, with increased expenditures to make efficient both paid and reserve departments, fire insurance premiums have gone up instead of coming down. Six thousand dollars for fire plug waterworks rental alone has never phazed the underwriters in their work of raising rates and Marion contemplated in the last year the highest insurance rates that have prevailed in twenty years. We never get any reduction, either, except as some live, ambitious little company comes in and goes after the business that the "combine" companies enjoy. We make no criticism on the local underwriters, for it is known they can only obey the order of the companies they represent.

The fire risk in Marion has been greatly reduced. Total loss fires have become a rarity, indeed, a condition due to improved fire-fightign appliances. And yet the rate is two, three and four times what it is in cities where the risk is comparatively little less. Marion pays out many thousands annually in fire premiums, and the tax, if we may call it such, is too heavy. The insurance-people have encouraged a hope of a reduction when a fire-alarm system is installed. We trust they will not disappoint us, but the faith is not strong.

The Marion STAR political oracle has discovered that the Democrats of the Thirteenth district are in a bad way to select a suitable candidate to give Uncle Stephen his quietude. He alleges that Young of Marion is a free silver man and that his local opponent, Scofield, is a Cleveland goldbug; that Hare straddled the coinage question but is free wool in a strong sheep-growing district; that it doesn't cut much figure what Norton's opinions are, and that the good traits of Reis, Erie county's aspirant, are not apparent. We concede nothing of what the STAR has marked out for the delectation of its readers, but for the sake of argument will grant that it is correct. Were worst to come to worst, Seneca county could place in the race a candidate whose name would be the signal for a rallying of the clans, a uniting of the factions and a dash of enthusiasm that would sweep the district for the Democracy with the resistless force of an avalanche. A candidate beloved by his friends and respected by his foes—in short a dead sure winner against whose election it would be folly for the enemy to strive.—Fostoria Times.

And yet the Times man keeps his important secret locked safe in his own bosom, while his party is confronted by uncertainty on every hand. Come, trot out your man, not essentially for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

The Hon. Mark Hanna has gone to New York to kindle a few fires of McKinley enthusiasm wherever the opportunity offers. There doesn't appear to be anything the matter with Hanna.

Ex-Governor Campbell is quoted as saying that "Any good man who wants it may have the democratic nomination for the presidency this year." But is there is any way to compel a good man to take it? That is more important just now.

The Coit relief bill will have another hearing in the state senate next Wednesday, a motion to reconsider having been adopted without any opposition There is hope that the state will be spared further disgrace growing out of the Washington C. H. riot.

General Booth must be credited with a great deal business sagacity. Having a big family on his hands, he built up a mighty Salvation Army, and so manipulated it that every member of the family could have a high office. As none but the officers of the Army are allowed salaries the Booth family had a copper-riveted cinch on the usufruct.

Y. M. C. A. DAY.

All the Local Churches Will Devote Sunday to the Association.

Sunday will be a great day for the Young Men's Christian association. Leading association workers will man all of the churches and the great work for young men will be well discussed.

The first of the Sunday speakers to arrive was Lyman L. Pierce, one of the state secretaries, who came last evening and is stopping at Hotel Marion. Mr. Pierce says that Marion has the finest building that he has ever seen in a city of this size. The people of the city have done splendidly in erecting such a building The next essential is to make it the power which it should be by contributing to its running expenses.

Among the other speakers who will arrive here today are State Secretaries Doggett and Norris, E. L. Shuey, of Dayton, President Jennings and Secretary Sawyer, of Mansfield.

A great men's rally will be held at the association hall Sunday at 3 p. m., where Lyman L. Pierce will make the principal address.

Every man in the city should plan to be at the men's meeting Sunday at 3 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. There will be special music and a strong gospel talk.

THIS, THAT AND THE OTHER.

Hammocks and lawn tennis suits were not of much use this week. It is safe to say that there was not one person in this entire city that swung lazily in the meshes of a hammock during the week.

Billy Sanders, he who handles the tickets at the Erie office, is in a quandary. The other day a very nice looking woman walked up to the window, and as Billy raised his hat she asked for a ticket to Lima. He noticed her nervousness, and then she blushed and asked if she could not get a ticket to Ft. Wayne. Willie accommodated her. The woman blushed again and whispered to him not to tell where she was going. The fact of the matter is Mr. Sanders does not know the woman, but he assured her that he would not tell it to a living soul.

The ball fiend is now discussing the players signed for next season. Come to think of it, Marion has one or two players. There's Mike Connors, who will join Ted Sullivan's forces in the South, Arthur Keefe, who will likely go East, and John Munsell, son of the policeman, is thinking of going on the diamond.

Not long since funeral services were to be held above a certain business place in this city, and the gentleman whose father was the person that the services were to commemorate, called upstairs that he would be up in a moment. A stranger who was in the place of business stepped up to him and, calling him aside, confided the fact that he had some money in his pocket and would not mind taking a hand if it was to be a square game.

WANT TO GET OUT.

Officers of the Fourteenth Regiment Disgusted—Col. Coit Refuses To Accept Resignations.

This morning's Columbus Journal says:

The feeling of discouragement which has existed among the officers of the Fourteenth regiment since they were deprived of their armory and consequent upon the persecution of Colonel A. B. Coit culminated yesterday in the resignations of over two-thirds of the officers of the regiment. The matters were precipitated by the failure of the senate to pass the Coit appropriation bill. The officers claim that it was not so much the fact that their colonel was not reimbursed for the trial as it is the principle involved. Most of the officers are in business as private citizens and only enter the state's service for their delight in martial affairs and to be of service when there is need, and they claim they do not care to serve in hazardous situations for the state without the assurance of the state's protection and backing in the event of another Washington C. H. episode They claim they do not care to endanger their lives, lose time and money and then be persecuted afterward because they did their duty

Colonel Coit utterly refused to accept the resignations of the officers in such numbers and returned them to the officers forthwith, stating that it was for the best interests of the state that they remain in the Guard and do their duty to the end of their commissions.

The officers who tendered their resignations were Surgeons Guerin, Gunsaulus, Semans, of Delaware, and Wright, of Circleville, Major Homes, of the Columbus battalion; Adjutants Wilson, Keys and William-; Captains Baker, Biddle and Reynolds, company C; Captains Walsh and Andrus, company A; Captains Helweigand, Elliott and Hoyer, company F; Captains Oyler and White, company B; Major Adams, of Delaware; Captain Clark and two lieutenants, company K, Delaware; Captain Radcliff, company M, Circleville; Captain Sellers and two lieutenants, Marysville; Captain Love and two lieutenants, Marion; Quartermaster Donavin, Delaware; Commissary Officer McCloud and inspector of rifle practice, Captain Everett

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

Mrs. J. A. Sample Owes Her Strength to This the Best of All Remedies.

For the unfortunates who lie awake, staring at the ceiling and counting the strokes of the clock, every sleepless night is an eternity.

Mrs. J. A. Sample of 1558 Broadway, New York city, was afflicted with insomnia until her nerves were on the verge of prostration. She thinks her condition was due to indigestion. Here is what Mrs. Sample says:

"I have used Paine's celery compound with marked and decided benefit. It is especially useful in insomnia, arising from indigestion and poorly nourished nerves.

"I should add that my granddaughter, Vera Haileigh, was so thin and puny at the age of ten as to cause us the greatest anxiety. We had no difficulty in idueing her to take Paine's celery compound. Today the roses bloom in her cheeks, and I never saw a healthier, stronger child than Paine's celery compound has made her."

The brain is the centre of the nervous system. Sleep alone rests this vital organ, together with the nerves. During the waking hours the nervous system works incessantly. Poor sleep means a poor nervous condition, and prolonged insomnia leads in every case to prostration, and too often to dread insanity. The mischief that results from weakened nerves is much greater and more destructive than most folks even dream of.

The all-important thing for nervous, run-down persons, and for those who are losing sleep is that Paine's celery compound builds up the whole physical system, and by improving the digestion and regulating the nerves it insures sound, refreshing sleep.

In winter most women and many men lead hothouse lives. A flagging appetite, a disposition to pick at this dish and that, rather than to eat a square meal, is among the early indications of failing health. Then comes delay in falling asleep and the fretful, uneasy feeling the next day.

Deliverance from such a miserable condition by the use of Paine's celery compound has caused men and women from every section of the United States to write sincere, hearty words of praise and thankfulness for this grand invigorator. People enjoying perfect health sometimes wonder at this gratitude; but whoever has suffered from prostration of the nerves, of which insomnia is one of the symptoms, will understand how hard it is to overstate the torment of this condition. And whoever has been made completely well by Paine's celery compound feels that no words can overstate the joy and gratitude such persons feel.

This is the state of mind of thousands of nervous, sickly, broken-down persons who have used Paine's celery compound and been made well.

Mrs. Sample tells of the happy result in the case of her grandchild One of the most conspicuous instances of the remarkable power of Paine's celery compound over debility is shown in the relief it has afforded children Of course the dose is adapted to the age of the little patient. The compound purifies the blood and corrects any tendency to constipation. Pale, puny children are made vigorous, rosy and healthy by this incomparable remedy.

WORKS LIKE A CHARM.

The New Electric Fire Alarm System Pleases Everybody.

The fire alarm system has been tested Friday and today and it gives perpect satisfaction. All of those about the department are delighted with it. Most of the citizens of Marion are pleased with the system and Chief Fies is gratified.

Mr. Fies was seen by a STAR reporter this morning and stated that it was working like a charm. He had no cause to make complaint. There was but one box that did not work right when the test was made, and that was not the fault of the system, but it was turned on wrong. He explained the manner in which a code was worked and the various features of the system, which is very easy to understand.

THE COUNTY COURT

FRED E. GUTHERY FILES A PETITION IN FORECLOSURE.

J. C. F. Hull and S. W. Bennett make Reply in the Van Horn Case—More About the Garrett Case—Common Pleas Notes and News.

Fred E. Guthery, as attorney for himself, Friday filed in the court of common pleas a petition in foreclosure against George M. Beicher and Irene Beicher, his wife, The Ohio Building and Loan company, Carrie Ladd, Jane King, Mary A. Coffy and T. P. Wallace, doing business as the Deposit bank.

In his petition Mr. Guthery sets up three notes signed by Geo. M. Beicher, and for $500, one for $541.25 and one for $1000, the first due on or before one year, the secone on or before three years and the third due on or before five years after date, and secured by three mortgages, the first on lot 689 in Patten & Wallace's addition to Marion, the second on lots 689, 702 and 703, in the same addition the mortgage being on the undivided half of lots 702 and 703 and the third mortgage being on the same premises as the second mortgage.

The plaintiff says that all the notes are due and payable, that the defendants aside from Mr. Beicher and his wife claim some interests in the premises and asks that they may be compelled to set up their interests, that the priority of liens may be determined, that his three mortgages may be foreclosed, the lands sold and the amount due on his notes be paid him with interest out of the proceeds of the sale.

In the case of Rosa Van Horn against Stephen Kerr and others in the court of common pleas J. C. F. Hull and S. W. Bennett today made reply to the answer of Cyrus Sears in which they deny every allegation made in Sears' answer and assert that the sale of the premises, described in the petition, made by the treasurer under which Sears claims title was void and of no effect and conveyed no interest or title to Sears for the reason that the sale was not legally advertised.

In yesterday's issue of the STAR brief mention was made of the fact that the court, in the case of Garrett against The Standard Life and Accident Insurance company, of Detroit, had ordered the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant.

As the jury brought in its verdict at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, the briefest mention of the matter could be made.

The defendant objected to the plaintiff offering testimony upon the petition, claiming that Garrett was not the party to bring the action and that he could not bring it unless he had first made demand upon the Steam Shovel company and it had refused and neglected so to do.

The petition did not allege anything of the kind and hence the defendant objected to any testimony being offered.

The court held that the objection was well made and after the plaintiff had been placed on the stand and asked several formal questions, to all of which the defense objected and which objections were sustained, the plaintiff's attorneys stated what they expected to prove and then Judge Norris directed the jury to bring in a verdict as above stated stating that in his opinion the Steam Shovel was the party to bring the action. The plaintiff's attorneys excepted to the ruling of the court and their exceptions were noted in the stenographer's report.

In our court column Friday the statement was made that the case of Ruth against Rice had gone up to the circuit court. The type should have said that it had come up in the court of common pleas on demurrer to the amended petition. The demurrer was overruled and the defendant made answer. While the result was the same, a decision in favor of the defendant, it is yet thought proper to make the above correction.

In the condemnation cases of the City of Marion against John W. Hinds and others and the City of Marion against Godfrey Leiiler in the court of common pleas, John J. Hane yesterday made answer.

In the first case Mr. Hane claims that the property to be taken from him is of the value of $1500 and that the property to be taken in the second case is worth $500 and consequently asks for those amounts.

Confiding To The People!

This great store aims to be next to the masses. There are features of exclusiveness about it—in atttractions that we offer and rare buying that we do, both in price and the things with city approval (you know we introduce nearly all the new things)—but we have no exclusiveness for special trade. But wait! What we want is a word about our preparations for spring trade. We're growing. We must far exceed last year.

We covered the New York and Philadelphia markets as no two other merchants, or three for that matter. Our Mr. Shultz was there to buy carpets, curtains and draperies. Our Mr. George Frank was there to buy separate skirts, ready-made suits, shirt waists and spring capes and jackets. Our Mr. Anderson was there to buy dress goods, silks, dress trimmings and linings. Our Mr. D. A. Frank was there, too, putting-an oar-in in every department.

RESULTS: Such buying, such preparations for trade as Marion has not known.

Out-of-town shopping is useless. Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Columbus are rivaled right here at home in a dry goods way. Experienced shoppers say so.

Silks.

In this department we are so far in the the lead of competition as to make our silk selling a wonderful success. We buy principally from the manufacturers.

Large patterns in Black Brocaded Silks that make handsome skirts or full suits, at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 per yard.

Exclusive waist patterns at $1.50 up to $12.00 each.

We will be pleased to show you our silks. Every express adds to the assortment. Every hour's selling takes some of the patterns from the stock.

Dress Goods.

Changeable Satin Soliel effects 40c: All-wool Dress Goods, all colors and mixtures, 45c: 50-Inch Black and Navy Diagonals, special, 75c: 40-Inch Mohair, all colors, 50c—if we had bought them any other time the price would necessarily have been 75c.

We can't name all our yard dress goods, it would take a page.

Pattern Suits.

Silk and Wool Boucle and Crepon effects $3.50 to $21.00.
French Flannels 40c to 60c.
Broadcloths for tailor-made dresses.

MARRIED A PUGILIST.

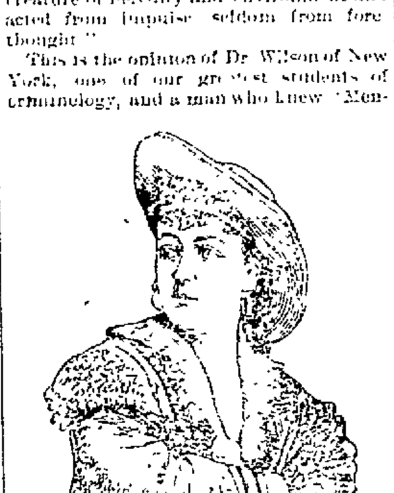

One of the Many Misalliances of Adah Isaacs Menken.

WAS A TALENTED ADVENTURESS.

John C. Heenan Was One of Her Four Husbands—More Fortunate In Art Than In Love—Her Success as Mazeppa—Poet, Actress and Circus Rider.

"The number of women who aim to win by doubtful methods, and who may be classed as adventuresses, is, I think, greater in the United States than in any European country, and this largely because of the great freedom women enjoy here. Yes, I should class Adah Isaacs Menken as an adventuress, but one who was more sinned against than sinning. She was a creature of heredity and environment and acted from impulse, seldom from forethought."

This is the opinion of Dr. Wilson of New York, one of our greatest students of criminology, and a man who knew "Menken," as he called her intimately, and who believed her endowed with the divine gift of genius.

ADAH ISAACS MENKEN.

Dolores Adios Fuertes was born in New Orleans June 15, 1835. Her mother was a beautiful, gifted Frenchwoman, a native of Bordeaux, who had won some success on the stage in her own country and in Spanish America. Senor Fuertes, Adah's father, was a Spanish Jew.

The family of Fuertes was always in straightened circumstances, so that he did not hesitate to use the earning powers of his pretty little daughter at an age when she should have been absorbed in picture books and dolls.

Adah was not yet 4 when her father began her instruction, for it was the dream of his life to make her as great as that actress of his race, Rachel, whose dramatic genius had placed her at the head of the European stage.

Adah had an older sister, Josephine, of whom we know but little, for though gifted as a dancer, she was not cursed with beauty. When Josephine was 9 and Adah 7 they appeared as dancers in a pantomime at the old Charles Street theater, New Orleans. The beauty, grace, intelligence and rare art of the younger sister made her an immediate success, and the elated father saw within his grasp the fortune for which he had so long been striving.

At the age of 16 Adah's father took her to Havana, where she danced herself into immediate success and was known by the gay gallants as "Queen of the Plaza."

Spanish grandees and wealthy planters offered her marriage, but her father guarded her carefully, determined not to part with so productive a property. Fuertes took his beautiful daughter to Texas and Mexico, where her success was unbounded. "Apart from her wonderful dancing," said a man who met her at Vera Cruz in 1852, "it was worth the whole price of admission just to look at the graceful form and exquisitely beautiful and brilliant face as she walked across the stage. At this time she was the cause of many a heartache, and more than one duel was fought on her account."

On their return to New Orleans Adah's father felt that he could afford to rest, and that her appearance on the stage was no longer necessary for the family support. The girl used her leisure and showed her natural bent by writing and publishing a book of poems entitled "Memories," under the nom de plume "Indigena."

In 1856 she was induced to dance at Galveston, and here she met a musician, Alexander Isaacs Menken, of her father's age, whose skill won her heart, and a few weeks after their first meeting they were married. After this she became a Jewess. It was Menken's name to which she [illegible] for stage purposes that of Adah.

[illegible] physical endowments of each two people more unsuited to live together as man and wife could not easily be imagined. The husband was an ignorant man without any comprehension of the refined, brilliant and aesthetic woman whose passion, not love, had deluded into marriage.

Adah soon woke up to a bitter realization of her mistake. From the hour of that marriage her star began to decline, and her sustaining hope grew dim. This ill matched pair lived together for only a few months, some say a few days and when Adah left him to resume her profession Heenan tried to have it appear that the marriage had not been legal. In 1862 Adah obtained a divorce from Heenan in Indiana and returned to New York city.

By this time Adah had become an accomplished actress and there was a chance to have redeemed the errors of the past, but, still ruled by impulse and only using her reason when it was too late, she married, in New York, Robert H. Newall.

With Newall, Adah went west and to California, where she soon added to her list of accomplishments that of a daring rider. Her riding was not of the sidesaddle kind. She could manage the wildest horse with a halter, and, standing erect, dash him over obstacles that the most skilled cavalryman would have thought suicidal.

And now, as "a wild western equestrienne," "Queen of the Prairies," Adah went with Newall to London, where she at once secured a place in Astley's famous circus.

Original in everything she did Adah introduced innovations into the circus ring that startled the conservatives in such matters and speedily made her "the talk of the town." Astley's it was believed was in its decadence, but the appearance of the phenomenal American woman gave a new lease to its fortunes.

The legitimate stage and even the opera were deserted for the circus. Young and old, rich and poor, peasant and noble, flocked to cheer the "Queen of the Prairies," and her pictures met the Londoner at every turn.

As Mazeppa she took London by storm. Gifts poured in on her, temptation beset her on every hand, and she would not have been true to her past had she kept cool, not been dazzled and made giddy by the flood of fortune and the intoxicating effect of adulation.

After over a year of this prosperity Adah—this was in 1864—was divorced from Newall, and, to the surprise of every one and the disgust of the Astley managers, she came to America.

There is enough chargeable to her weakness and restless love of adventure without believing the rumor that she came to America with the representative of a noble English house whose wife and children were disgraced by the act.

In New York Adah resumed the role of Mazeppa, and her success in the metropolis and throughout the west was as great as that at Astley's. She made a great deal of money, but her lavish generosity rather than any selfish extravagance prevented her keeping it.

If she had found instruction in experience, she would have remained her own mistress from this time on but, true to herself, in 1866 she married James Barclay of New York, with whom she at once sailed for England.

The ill matched pair—indeed all her matches were of that character—went to London and sought to renew the success of the past at Astley's. But she soon learned that the people's idols stand ever on an unsteady pedestal. Brief as had been the time since the crowds flocked to see the Prairie Queen they had forgotten or were giving their unreliable devotion to another idol of the hour.

Much discouraged, Adah and her husband decided to try their fortunes in Paris. Here she made some success as a rider, but the circus has never been popular with cultured Frenchmen. Her money ran low, and in her desperation she resolved to resume the business of dancing that first brought her into notice.

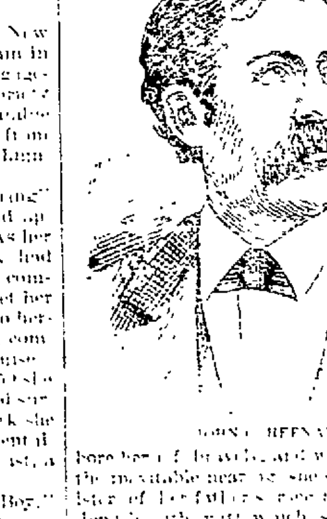

She went back to the variety stage, and Barclay, wearying of her beauty, which was still great, and seeing that her earning power was declining, cruelly deserted her.

Friendless and moneyless in a great city a less buoyant and elastic nature than Adah's would have been crushed, but now for the first time in her life the latent force of her remarkable character asserted itself. She took humble lodgings in a quiet part of the city and appeared in the ballet during the opera season.

Her linguistic talents were remarkable. She spoke French like a Parisian, and her Spanish would have been perfect in Madrid. She took pupils in those languages, and it she had had support she would have won a reputation as a teacher, for she was blessed with the gift of imparting knowledge.

Her love for poetry returned and she devoted all her spare time to the art. As a result of this comforting labor she published in London, or had published for she could not afford the expense herself, a second volume of poems under the suggestive title "Infelicia" (the unhappy). This little book, a copy of which is before me, is full of feeling and is written with a musical smoothness worthy of Swinburne.

Early in 1868 her health began to fail and the red death flag of consumption began to glow in her hollowing cheeks. She bore herself bravely, and when she found the inevitable near she sent for a minister of her father's race and joined the Jewish church with which she had always been in sympathy.

Adah Isaacs Menken—she always kept this name—died [illegible] 1868, and was buried [illegible] at Mont Parnasse [illegible].

She was a woman of extraordinary beauty and [illegible] powers of fascination. Her mind was of a high order, and properly directed it would have enabled her to a foremost place among the literary women. SHE FELL SIX STORIES.

And Walked Away Uninjured—Sensations of the Fall.

Miss Lillian Kroger who fell from a sixth story window at a [illegible] Troy, N. Y., not long ago, thus describes her sensations: "Finally the [illegible] through the open window [illegible] ing me, and I turned and attempted to catch hold of a [illegible] which was immediately under the window. As I lowered myself [illegible] to grasp the sign I missed my hold [illegible] wood and went [illegible] Oh, I will never forget [illegible] closing her eyes and [illegible] not even scream. I couldn't [illegible] I was sure that I was going to my death, but I did not lose consciousness, not even for a second. My [illegible] work clearly. Indeed never before in my life had I thought so rapidly. My eyes must have been closed.

"I was of the opinion that I had remained in a perpendicular position during the entire fall and was surprised to learn from persons who saw me that I had turned completely over several times. When I struck the awning I thought, 'Well, this isn't the sidewalk,' and when I slid off the awning into the firemen's net I was surprised that any one should ask me if I was hurt. All during the awful descent which seemed to take many minutes, I had felt that I would surely be killed when I struck, and I wonder that this terror did not continue after I lit in the net. But it was dispelled instantly.

"Looking around for my hat and cow [illegible] which I had thrown from the window I saw them suspended from a sign on which they had caught, and calmly requested a bystander to procure them for me. Then I walked away none the worse for my fall save for a slightly sprained ankle. I felt no other ill effects. Why, I didn't even have a headache!"

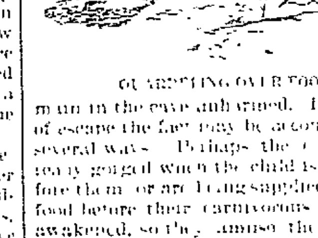

ACTUAL WOLF CHILDREN.

Stolen While Young and Suckled and Fostered by Wolves.

While staying at an up country place called Shapercounda, in east Bengal, it was my fortune to meet an old Anglo Indian gentleman from whom I learned all I wanted to know of wolf children, for he not only knew of several cases but had actually seen and examined near Agra a child which had been recovered from the wolves, says a writer in the Badminton Magazine.

The story of Romulus and Remus, which all schoolboys and the vast majority of grown up people regard as a myth, appears in a different light when one studies the question of wolf children and ascertains how it comes to pass that boys are found living on the very best terms with such treacherous and rapacious animals as wolves, sleeping with them in their dens, sharing the raw flesh of deer and kids which the she wolf provides and, in fact, leading in all essentials the actual life of a wolf.

A young she wolf has a litter of cubs, and after a time her instinct tells her that they will require flesh food. She steals out at night in quest of prey. Soon she espies a weak place in the fence which incloses the compound of a poor villager. She enters, doubtless in the hope of securing a kid, and while prowling about inside looks into a hut where a woman and infant are soundly sleeping. In a moment she has pounced on the child and is out of reach before its cries can attract the villagers. Arriving at her den under the rocks she drops the little one among her cubs. At this critical time the fate of the child hangs in the balance. Either it will be immediately torn to pieces and devoured, or in a most wonderful way remain in the cave unharmed. In the event of escape the fact may be accounted for in several ways. Perhaps the cubs are already gorged when the child is thrown before them, or are being supplied with solid food before their carnivorous instinct is awakened, so they amuse themselves by simply licking the sleek, oily body (Hindoo mothers daily rub their boy babies with some native vegetable oil) of the infant, and thus it lies in the nest by degrees getting the odor of the wolf cubs, after which the mother wolf will not molest it. In a little time the infant begins to feel the pangs of hunger, and hearing the cubs sucking, soon follows their example. Now the adoption is complete, all fear of harm to the child from wolves has gone, and the foster mother will guard and protect it as though it were of her own flesh and blood.

Children recovered from wolves at different times have been identified by their parents through birthmarks and other means.

An interesting case of a wolf child was reported many years ago in Chambers' Journal. In the Etwah district, near the banks of the river Jumna, a boy was captured from the wolves. This child was after a time restored to his parents who, however, found him very different to other children. He was most fractious and troublesome—in fact, just like a caged wild beast. Often during the night for hours together he would give vent to most unearthly yells and moans. This boy did not survive long. He never spoke nor did he single ray of human intelligence ever shed its redeeming light over his debased features."

Some of these poor waifs have been recovered after spending four or more years in the fellowship of wolves and though wild and savage at first have after a [illegible] Their [illegible] rarely seen to stand upright [illegible] around, and they grow [illegible] [illegible] snapping at anybody who [illegible] near.

The Wonder of Japan.

A huge metal image of the god Dia-Butsu is the artificial wonder of Japan. The exact date of the erection of this gigantic bronze image is not known. However, this much is certain. The Mikado Shoma died in the year 748 A. D., and it was some time during his reign that the figure was set up. The total weight of the metal used in the construction of this enormous memorial of an imaginary deity was something over 450 tons, the [illegible] costly ingredients being silver and gold. Of gold something near 500 pounds were used, silver [illegible], tin 16,827 and copper 986,080 pounds. The height of the figure from the sacred lotus flower on which it sits is 53½ feet. Not to Be Trifled With.

From Cincinnati Gazette.

Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble will end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this there are today countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern and were therefore neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by L. H. Flocken, Druggist.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." Flocken's drug store.

The American Protective Tariff League is a national organization advocating "Protection to American Labor and Industry" as explained by its constitution, as follows:

"The object of this League shall be to protect American labor by a tariff on imports, which shall adequately secure American industrial products against the competition of foreign labor."

There are no personal or private profits in connection with the organization and it is sustained by memberships, contributions and the distribution of its publications.

FIRST. Correspondence is solicited regarding "Membership" and "Official Correspondents."

SECOND. We need and welcome contributions, whether small or large, to our cause.

THIRD: We publish a large line of documents covering all phases of the Tariff question. Complete set will be mailed to any address for 50 cents.

FOURTH. Send postal card request for free sample copy of the "American Economist." Address Wilbur F. Wakeman, General Secretary, 125 West 23d Street, New York.

THREE ASSIGNMENTS

MADE IN THE PROBATE COURT FRIDAY NIGHT.

The Deeds Were Made by Frame & Beicher. John R. Frame and George M. Beicher. The Assets Amount to About $14,000. Liabilities Not Given Out.

At 7:15 o'clock Friday night three deeds of assignments were filed in the probate court.

All the deeds were made to Isaac A. Merchant and in the first the grantors were Frame & Beicher, in the second John R Frame and in the third George M Beicher.

The property conveyed in the deed of Frame & Beicher to Merchant was the stock of furniture and undertaking supplies owned by the firm at their place of business on west Center street. The stock is valued at $3000.

In the Frame deal lot 828 in Wallace and True's second addition to the city, forty-eight acres of land in Big Island township, this county, and all his personal property, which is estimated to be worth $4500.

Mr. Beicher conveyed in the deed lot 689 and the undivided half of lots 702 and 703 in Patten and Wallace's addition to the city, all his personality and any interest which he might have in any other realty. It is estimated that Mr Biecher's assets will run up to the neighborhood of $6000.

The liabilities of the assignors as partners and individually have not been given out.

The assignment was brought about by the extreme depression of the times and the hardness of the money market and it is more than likely that three judgments taken by Mary A Coffy and the Marion Deposit bank in the court of common pleas, aggregating $1200, may have somewhat precipitated the step.

The affair is a most unfortunate one and the many friends of Messrs. Frame and Beicher are filled with regret that those gentlemen find it necessary to make the assignment.

It is to be hoped that both of the gentlemen will soon be on their feet again and engaged in business under brighter auspices.

Both Messrs. Frame and Beicher are yet in the prime of life and hustling and active men, and there is no reason to doubt but what they will again bravely take up the struggle with the world and soon again see the sunlight breaking through the clouds.

TOWN TOPICS

Those in charge of the entertainment of the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum, which meets here in April, have invited the casts of the Mask and Wig club which produced "The Bicyclers" and "A Box of Monkeys" to give those pieces for the entertainment of the delegates to the council, the members of the local lodge and the friends of the Mask and Wig club membership.

While the matter has not been fully determined it is more than probable that the invitation will be accepted and it is expected with the extra stage facilities that the two really meritorious plays will be cleverly produced.

The music for the evening will be furnished by the Marion Grand orchestra and several fine selections may be expected from that organization of clever musicians in which our citizens are beginning to take so much price.

It was not many years ago that the public was clamoring for a new court house It was built. Then in quick succession came sanitary sewerage, surface drainage, paved streets, electric lights, electric street railway, another telegraph company, long distance telephone lines, new opera house, three fine new churches, electric power, fire alarm system and so on, yet the public is clamoring for more

The danger usually pays the fiddler and at present it doesn't look as if more should reasonably be expected, yet the talk of a Masonic Temple and a new city building is heard and it would take a fertile imagination to determine what will not be asked for in the years to come.

All these things go to make a bright picture, however, for they show that Marion is on the improve and that it is not going to stand still, which condition is ever a sure forerunner of decay.

At the next entertainment of the Mask and Wig club "The Delegate" and "A Slight Mistake" will be produced and the casts playing them will be made up of Mrs. E. K. Uhler, Miss Jessie Harshberger, Miss Emma Uhler and Messrs. W. H. Bones, C. E. Phillips, A. F. McNeal, L. B. McNeel and Faust Mackey

The opera house people are claiming great things for the new structure and say, among other things, that it will be one of the finest if not the finest opera house in the state when completed with the possible exception of the new opera house at Toledo.

It now appears that the seating capacity of the new house will be 1500 instead of 1400 as at first supposed and there will be sufficient standing room to accommodate from 400 to 500 more.

The house is so arranged as to give free egress to the largest crowd, the exit to the upper balcony being so arranged as to discharge patrons of that portion of the house into the alley, and there are also two alley exits from the lower floor.

The plasterers are at work on the house, the electric wiring is about finished, the gas pipes are being put in and the mural decorators are at work in the cellar making ready the stucco work to adorn the ceilings and walls, and all indications go to show that the new temple of amusement will be ready for occupancy early in the season of 1896-7.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The general teachers' meeting occurred Wednesday evening. It was attended by all the teachers.

The next county teachers' institute is to be held in Green Camp. A large number of Marion teachers will be in attendance

The school manual will be out some time next week. Perhaps the manual will not be ready before the latter part of the week

The seniors are searching for subjects for their graduating efforts. The class of 1896 will endeavor to choose something out of the ordinary run of subjects.

The grade meetings have been going on during the past week. All teachers of the various grades are meeting together with the superintendent and the work of the term is being discussed.

The literary societies of the High school commenced work again Friday afternoon. Each gave exercises, and quite a number of visitors were in attendance. The Irving and the Webster societies elected new officers.

Supt. Powell and the senior class of the High school will make the annual visit to Columbus this month. The seniors of each year visit Columbus, the state institutions and schools. It is always a pleasant as well as profitable trip

Miss Hattie Christian has been compelled to remain away from her school a portion of this week on account of illness. Miss Winnie Peadon substituted for her. Miss Olive Bayles was also ill, and Miss Maude Boyd took charge of her duties.

The Irving literary society officers are: President, Winifred Stowe, vice president, Hallie Haberman; secretary, Addie Osborne; treasurer, Jay Aye; executive committee, Amy Key, Dale Aye and Roxie Thomas; critic, Dale Aye

The following are the officers elected by the Webster society Friday afternoon: Will Douglas, president; Maude Stoltz, vice president; Carl Sawyer, secretary; Clark Wright, treasurer; Marshal Kling, sergeant at arms; Benj. Jacoby, reporter; Mayme Adams, critic; Ida Emma Hawley, Mary Stillwell and Charles Hickock, committee on exercises.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

The Central Union Telephone company will occupy one of the rooms on the second floor of the Evans building.

The sewer at the Y. M. C. A. has choked up and the association has been obliged to close its bath rooms. The trouble is being remedied.

J. W. Freeland has options on two desirable building sites in the city, upon one of which he expects to erect a business block during the coming season.

The Marion Advertising company has leased an office room over Gleberman's liquor store and will hereafter have its headquarters there. The company is doing a big business.

The Steam Shovel company is having the superintendent's office and apartments re-papered and improved. The offices will present a bright appearance when once completed.

Buckeye Commandery, No. 2, U. A. M., is having a stage erected in the hall in the Bennett building to give the performance on. The hall has recently been repapered.

One week from next Friday night the Knights and Ladies of Honor will give a banquet at their hall This is in honor of the candidates that have recently been taken into the order.

The entertainment to be given at St. Mary's church Tuesday evening is to be under the auspices of the school children. The program is now complete, and is said to be excellent.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Walker entertained a number of friends, Thursday evening, at their home on the Boulevard Dainty refreshments were served, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Fred Titus, manager of the Tic Tac minstrels, has written to Bucyrus to endeavor to secure a date there for the Tic Tacs. The boys want to make several of the surrounding towns if possible.

Father Molloy leaves for LaRue this evening, where he will hold services Sunday and from there he goes to Greenville, O. He will lecture at Greenville on Tuesday night on St Patrick.

The Rebekahs and members of Canton Marion met Friday night and appointed a treasurer for their fair, committees and other arrangements that were necessary before the fair could be opened.

Mr and Mrs. Harry Krause entertained a number of friends at their home, in North Marion, Friday evening. The affair was in honor of Lewis Betz, a brother of Mrs. Krause, and was very pleasant.

Mac Mealy, the shoemaker, left today for his home in Richwood He goes there to attend the caucus, as a very tough political fight is on in the village just at present and Mac's vote was needed to help out.

James Beaver, residing five miles northeast of Marion, has purchased the Anna Beckley residence property, on east Center street, for $2500. Mr. Beaver contemplates moving to Marion within a year or two.

An effort is being made to organize a base ball club in the city. The idea is to have a diamond prepared at the fairgrounds, and play there. Some of the local enthusiasts are endeavoring to interest the street railway management.

The degree team of the Knights and Ladies of Honor met Friday evening, and for the first time conferred the degree. Two candidates were initiated The lodge has conferred much degree work but this is the first time with a team. The work was quite impressive.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Leffler entertained a pleasant company of their relatives, at their pleasant home on Greenwood street, Friday evening Friday was Mrs. Leffler's birthday anniversary, and members of the Leffler family, without her knowledge, arranged to make the occasion a pleasant one, which they succeeded in doing.

A great commotion was created on north Main street this afternoon by a colored man, one of the quartet that was playing and singing about the saloons, drawing a revolver and flourishing it about on the streets. Officer Clapsaddle drew his gun and went after the "coon," who ran down the railway track. At a late hour the officer was giving the colored man a hot chase.

IT WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

WHAT DO YOU LOOK FOR AT THIS STORE?

Good Goods, Good Service, Good Values!

We have worked hard at all three for many years, and from long experience we are continually improving and find ourselves this year in a position to sell CHEAP: with our enormous output we are sought by manufacturers all over the country who are over-stocked or looking for READY CASH. Notice a few of our latest purchases.

About that New Carpet. You Know the One You Expect to Buy this Spring.

The best Eastern Makers came to us first, and we plucked the choicest numbers of their collection; and then the sewing and laying done by experts are sure to be right. EVERY PIECE OF CARPET IN OUR STORE IS A WORK OF ART. Every piece we bought was weaved this season especially for us. You can come to us with every confidence, knowing we will not take advantage of you nor try to sell you old, shop-worn goods, probably moth eaten, which some other house have carried in stock for years. Marionites will not be gulled in this way, they are too intelligent. We hear complaint every day about these filibusters, you surely have; if not ask your neighbors or come to us, we can refer you to scores.

Fred Stingel, Blindfolded, Puts a Watch Together and Wins a Wager Thereby. Takes Him Fifty-five Minutes To Do It, at Altoona, Pa.

The March number of the Keystone, a jeweler's journal, says.

On the evening of February 13th about fifteen of the guests were assembled in the office of the Hotel Franklin, on Seventeenth street, Altoona, Pa. The question of time arose, each man claiming that he had the correct time Among the fifteen men, however, no three had the same time, though no one was over three minutes out. By a queer coincidence ten of the fourteen who had watches had Keystone cases, and the other one had no watch at all One of the party said that Fred Stingel, an employe of Rothstein & Lippman Bros., being a watchmaker, ought to have the correct time. He said he was proud to say that he could give them the time to a second. Then Frank Herrington, who thought his watch was always right, found that he was two minutes and about fifteen seconds slow. He claimed, however, he had a better watch than Mr. Stingel had ever seen. Mr. Stingel looked at Mr. Herrington's watch and said: "Yes, it's a good one, but I have seen a great many like it. In fact, I have repaired so many of them that I could put one together with my eyes closed." Mr. Herrington quickly said, "I'll bet you ten dollars you can not" Mr Stingel drew from his pocket a ten-dollar bill and said, "Put up your money." Both did so, and the money was placed in the hands of F. P Molloy, the proprietor of the hotel.

Later in the evening the same subject was discussed again, and Mr. Herrington asked Mr Stingel if he didn't want his ten dollars back. But Mr. Stingel said: "No I'd only like to make it fifty dollars." And before they retired that evening they had put up forty dollars more, each. They agreed to have the test come off on the afternoon of February 14th in the parlor of the hotel, at two o'clock. At the set time some sixteen guests of the hotel gathered in the parlor to see the watch put together. Mr Herrington was getting a little afraid that his watch might be ruined or broken, so Mr Stingel made a forfeit of the amount that Mr Herrington said his movement cost and should it be broken he was to receive this amount.

The center table was cleared and all preparations were made, and at 2 10 o'clock Mr Stingel said he was ready to try to put the watch together The watch was handed him by Mr Herrington and in a few minutes he had it all apart and placed on the table before him. He then told them he was ready to be blindfolded. Mr. Herrington drew from his pocket a large handkerchief and tied it tightly around Mr. Stingel's head and eyes. When satisfied that Mr. Stingel's was securely blindfolded he told him to proceed Stingel felt around on the table until he found the top plate and had each part located. Then he quickly got the wheels in their places and the lower plate over them, but then came the difficult task to put the lever between the plates. This he succeeded after an effort in doing, and when the watch was in running order he put it in the case and handed it to Mr. Herrington, saying, "Have it examined, and if it isn't in as good order as it was before I took it apart the money is yours."

The handkerchief was then taken from his eyes. He had been just fifty-five minutes putting it together. A committee of three was chosen from the crowd to take the watch to some jeweler for examination, and the three men went to Shannon Bros.' store, on Eleventh avenue, the leading jewelers of the place. The watch was handed to Mr Shannon, Sr, who pronounced it in perfect order. The committee returned to the hotel and reported. Mr. Molloy then handed over the money Among those present were R. Herrington, Louis Miller, F. P. Molloy, Frank Smith, C. E. Ross, Wm. Wise, Wm Francis, James Gurley, I. B. Hughbs and other guests of the hotel The watch was a seventeen-jeweled Elgin in a Keystone hunting case, fourteen karat. Mr. Herrington was right, it is a good watch; but Mr. Stingel had seen good watches before

Mr. Stingel is known through that part of Pennsylvania as the "Ohio Boy." He learned his trade in Ohio, and his home is in Marion, Ohio

EIGHTY THREE YEARS OLD.

Mrs. Lawrence Kile Was Pleasantly Surprised on Her Birthday.

The pleasant home of Mr and Mrs Fred Hochstetter was the scene of a happy birthday celebration, Friday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Hochstetter's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Kile There was no ill luck for Mrs. Kile attached to a birth on March 13, for she is now 83 years old, is bright, strong and gives promise of enjoying several years to come.

To appropriately celebrate the day, Mrs. Hochstetter had invited fifteen of her mother's elderly friends, and they spent a very delightful afternoon together. Late in the afternoon refreshments were served, and Mrs. Hochstetter had a menu that struck most favorably the fancy of her guests.

Mrs. Kile was presented with an easy chair to serve as a reminder of the happy event
